About NAATSIHWP

OVERVIEW

The National Association of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Workers and Practitioners (NAATSIHWP) is the peak workforce organisation with responsibility for ensuring Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Health Workers and Health Practitioners, the only culturally based health workforce underpinned by national training and registration in the world, are embedded as a vital, valued, and professional part of Australia's health care system.

We play a key role in the delivery of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health, education, and employment outcomes; support a large and growing national network of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Health Workers and Health Practitioners; and work in partnership with other Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Community Controlled Organisations, governments, and a broad range of stakeholders to:

- ⦿ address the under representation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people employed within Australia's health care system

- ⦿ expand and strengthen the professional capability of the Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander Health Worker and Health Practitioner professions across all health service types (Aboriginal Community Control, Government and Private Practice)
- ⦿ promote the delivery of culturally safe and effective evidence-based models of care and
- ⦿ affect the self-determined development of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and the transformation of policy and practice at the national level.

PRINCIPLES

NAATSIHWP is committed to Preventing Sexual Exploitation, Abuse, and Harassment (PSEAH) in all its forms. The organisation has a zero-tolerance policy towards SEAH in any form and is committed to taking robust action against perpetrators, recognising the rights, well-being, and needs of victims and survivors in all aspects of prevention, response, and support. All staff are expected to understand and adhere to the policy, respect boundaries, intervene when witnessing or suspecting PSEAH, and report incidents promptly.

NAATSIHWP is committed to maintaining a respectful, inclusive, and ethical work environment. Our Code of Conduct Policy outlines the principles and standards of behaviour expected from all NAATSIHWP employees, contractors, and representatives.

NAATSIHWP is an equal opportunity employer and will provide equality in employment for all people employed or seeking employment. Every person will be given a fair and equitable chance to compete for appointment, promotion or transfer, and to pursue their career as effectively as others.
